

Stevanato Group (also read "Stevanato") offers an information service on-line at our website <http://www.stevanatogroup.com/>

Stevanato advises reading the notes described below before accessing the website. All the documentation published on the website (pictures, photos, internal articles and texts/news regarding Stevanato, and the companies comprising the Group, are the property of Stevanato Group.

Similarly, all the pattern set-ups, the codes and the formatted scripts used on the website belong to the Group or to the Group's companies. So that all contents published here may not be copied, modified, reproduced, downloaded, offloaded and/or used in any way without the express, written consent of Stevanato, with the exception of exclusively private use of the content.

Trademarks and brands on the website are the property of Stevanato and/or companies of the Group; they cannot be used by any other website or communication means without the express, written consent of the trademark and brand holders. Stevanato does not bear responsibility in any way for potentially mistaken elements of information published on the website.

Furthermore, Stevanato does not bear responsibility for the accuracy, legality or content of potential external sites or for that of the subsequent link.